

THE GALLIPOLIAN INDEX

Note for guidance on using the Index

1. The index was originally compiled in 2007 by Gallipoli Association member, Robert Pike, to whom the then Editor, David Saunders and his successors are greatly indebted. The original index was updated and significantly expanded by Foster Summerson when he edited the journal from 2008 - 2015, and more recently by myself.
2. The index does not aim to be a comprehensive guide to everything that has appeared in The Gallipolian over the past years. It is essentially an alphabetical listing, by subject area, of articles dealing with a range of 'Gallipoli related' topics.
3. Items within each subject area (e.g. Merchant Navy, Suvla etc.) are listed with the issue number in which they appeared. Thus, for example, an article that featured in issue No. 69 will be listed before one on the same or similar subject that appeared in issue No. 86. The only exceptions are in the case of Book Reviews, Obituaries and Poetry (see paragraph 5 below). Where articles encompass different subject areas, every effort has been made to record the article in each (e.g. a memoir written by a veteran of the campaign, will be listed both under 'Memories/ Reflections'; the unit in which he served; and often under the veteran's name).
4. County regiments afforded the title 'Royal' are listed thus: Berkshire Regiment, Royal. Other regiments and corps afforded that honour (e.g. Royal Fusiliers, Royal Irish Rifles etc.) are indexed under 'R' – 'Royal ...'.
5. Book Reviews (listed alphabetically by author), Obituaries (alphabetically by name of the deceased and sub-divided between Veterans and others) and Poetry (alphabetically by title) are contained in separate sections at the end of the main index.
6. Only a minority of Association events and annual commemorations are listed (usually only the first time an event was held, or when an unusual, or particularly significant commemoration occurred). Similarly, items of regular Association business (such as the Chairman's or Treasurer's Report) are not listed since reports on these matters, and on annual events and commemorations, can normally be found by referring to the issue following when they occurred.
7. It would be helpful if any errors or omissions in the indexing are notified to the Editor so that they can be amended at the next updating of the Index.
